back in the real world jane has to choose between exposing the otherworld and not showing her film after all the blood sweat and tears she s poured into it her future or a whole world

after meeting a friendly new face in the alternate dimension they ve stumbled upon heather eagerly and jane reluctantly agree to venture further in with their trusty camcorder to record what they find and an inhuman new buddy there s no turning back now a creature from beyond the eidolon has gotten loose in spectrum and it s up to chip heather and jane to search it out and pest control it and if they can survive a literal blood sucking monster maybe they ll be able to hunt down the thief who absconded with their otherworldly footage too heather jane and their increasingly improbable team come face to face with the terrible truth of spectrum and with the people who are responsible for it all in law by night jonathan goldberg hiller asks what we can learn about modern law and its authority by understanding how it operates in the dark of night he outlines how the social experience and cultural meanings of night promote racialized and gender violence but also make possible freedom of movement for marginalized groups that might be otherwise unavailable during the day examining nighttime racial violence curfews gun ownership the right to sleep and take back the night rallies goldberg hiller demonstrates that liberal legal doctrine lacks a theory of the night that accounts for a nocturnal politics that has historically allowed violence to persist by locating the law s nocturnal limits goldberg hiller enriches understandings of how the law reinforces hierarchies of race and gender and foregrounds the night s potential to enliven a more egalitarian social life
